

WRPS employees reach 7 million safe hours!

WRPS employees officially surpassed 7 million work hours without a lost-time injury, a milestone never before reached in the history of Hanford's tank farms.

The 1,400-member WRPS team continues to meet the challenge of managing Hanford's tank farms while maintaining an enviable safety record.

As many of WRPS' tank farm workers face the worst of winter weather, including cold temperatures, wind, and ice and snow, they will be further challenged to maintain their safe performance. Keep up the great work!

“Congratulations on your amazing achievement! It is my honor to be part of this great team.”

Mike Johnson, President and Project Manager
